Call for Contributions

Breaking Boundaries: Letters for Future Generations

This open access book will provide future generations with a series of accounts of the crisis in all forms, offering a unique perspective to take into account this unique moment in history is the perfect opportunity to cement a new identity for the accounting scholarship and practices. This project also helps establish the accounting discipline's role in recording key moments in our global history. In today's world, accounting must go beyond tracking numbers and money and felt beyond the English-speaking and academic worlds. This project aims to create an open platform that can hear diverse voices from various authors, trying to interpret the world during the crisis and to (re)imagine it in the post-pandemic.

This call for contributions aims to give a "snapshot" of accounts and counter-accounts during the Covid-19 crisis. This project has the potential to create a space for a collaborative conversation: (1) to engage with the broadest possible community leaders and members are all welcome. Contributions can include, but are not limited to: ideas, its resistances – during the pandemic period, wherever on the planet. Accounting is understood in the broad sense of the discipline and professions. It is time to give our accounts and counter-accounts a chance to be part of this unique moment in history.

Submission Guidelines

Selected articles will be published as submitted. Submissions will not be edited to ensure the authenticity of original voices.

Selection criteria

- Quality of writing/artistic production
- Fit with the call for contributions' objectives
- Process of selection
- December 15, 2020
- Notification of acceptance: October 30, 2020
- Submission deadline: December 15, 2020

This license allows the content to be freely accessed and shared. Those who share the content must provide an attribution and respect the open-access license conditions. Contributions will be published through the contribution's repository, in an open access book reuniting reflections and writings from various authors, trying to interpret the world during the crisis and to (re)imagine it in the post-pandemic.

How to Submit

All contributions must be submitted on: https://www.careerpath.ch/breaking-boundaries/

The platform will open on August 1, 2020.

For the present generations, we hope that the book will provide an arena to explore our minds unfettered by our experiences and identity. This book will be a part of the history of accounting, which is not only a book about accounting but also about the human condition.

For more information, please contact one member of the editorial board in your preferred language.